Temporary Program

The City of Kelowna is looking to support businesses who have been impacted by the pandemic by providing a simple, cost-effective and streamlined way to increase outdoor patio and retail areas on a temporary basis. These expanded outdoor areas will help businesses operate effectively while maintaining social distancing for their customers. Temporary patios and retail areas will be allowed to operate until October 31, 2021.

General Information

If you're interested in a temporary outdoor patio or retail expansion on private land, the process is fast and easy. Just follow these steps to help make your temporary space successful and safe:

Public Land:

If you're interested in a temporary outdoor patio or retail expansion on public land, such as plazas and parks, contact propertymanagement@kelowna.ca.

1. Talk with the landowner(s) and other affected businesses;
If you are a commercial tenant, it is your responsibility to ensure that the landowner consents to your proposal. Also, if there are other businesses on the property that could be affected by your proposal, make sure that they are aware of your proposal.

2. Choose your location

Identify where you plan on creating your temporary patio or retail area. Create an informal site plan by finding your property using the Kelowna Map Viewer and outlining the proposed temporary patio or retail area. A few things to consider as you pick your area:

- Check property lines to ensure that you're not encroaching on public land or neighbouring landowners;
- Avoid occupying any universally accessible parking stalls designated for persons with disabilities;
- Ensure that pedestrians and vehicles can still move around safely;
- Keep a safe distance from utility infrastructure, such as transformer boxes; and,

- Avoid landscaped areas. Removing or destroying required landscaping will trigger a Development Permit Amendment application and bonding to ensure that the landscaping is restored.

3. Decide whether you plan on serving liquor

If you plan on serving liquor in your temporary patio area, make sure that it is consistent with your Liquor License. If you have any questions about if this proposal may effect your liquor licence, contact the Liquor and Cannabis Regulation Branch or your liquor inspector.

4. Consider visibility and signage

If you're going to use fencing around your temporary space, use low fencing (1m or less) that is not opaque. Fencing that you can see through helps to promote safety and increases visibility. Also, ensure that any new signage is kept to a minimum and is temporary. All signage must comply with the City's Sign Bylaw.

5. Confirm that this is temporary

This program is for outdoor retail and patio expansions that are temporary only and must be removed by October 31, 2021. All materials and furniture used must be temporary in nature so that they can be removed easily, and the area can be restored to its original condition.

6. Submit your information to the City of Kelowna

This process is meant to help you plan out a successful and safe temporary outdoor space. Ensuring that your temporary outdoor patio or retail area is safe and functional for you, your customers, and the businesses around you is your responsibility. Once you are ready to go with your plans, please submit this checklist to planninginfo@kelowna.ca. Once submitted you will receive a confirmation email that staff have received your application then a second email with approval.
